

International Symposium for Early Career Research in Quality and Safety in Healthcare

Day 1: 23.11.2021

11.30-11.45	Welcome By: Conference lead Cecilie Haraldseid-Driftland, Rector at University of Stavanger Klaus Mohn, Center director for SHARE Siri Wiig
11.45-12.45	Session 1: ‘Resilience in healthcare’ followed by plenary discussion Chair: Cecilie Haraldseid-Driftland Co-Chair: Inger Johanne Bergerød
	Title:	Presenter:
	‘Room for resilience. Changing accountability mechanisms in the relation between WAI and WAD’	Jan- Willem Weenink, Assistant Professor
	‘Themes of Resilience’	Hilda Bø Lyng, Post doc
	‘Resilient performance in medication administration of ward nurses’	Jaco Tresfon, PhD candidate
	‘Resilience factors contributing to healthcare professionals’ compliance and adaptive capacity with hospital standardization practices: a scoping review’	Foteini Tsandila- Kalakou, PhD candidate
	‘Effect of an online resilience training tool on individual and organisational resilience, and its effect on quality and safety in radiology’	Ann Mari Gransjøen, Post doc
	‘Linking resilience and regulation across system levels in healthcare – a multilevel study’	Sina Øyri, Post doc
	‘Using the Functional Resonance Analysis Method to understand the referral processes between medical specialist outpatient clinics’	Miriam Safi, PhD candidate
	‘Developing a medication plan: a co-design approach with older persons and healthcare professionals’	Malin Holmquist, PhD candidate
12.45-13.00	Break (Offline)

13.00-14.00	Session 2: ‘Pandemic responses’ followed by plenary discussion
	Chair: Inger Johanne Bergerød
	Co-Chair: Cecilie Haraldseid-Driftland
	Title:	Presenters:
	‘Different views: What health experts and creative communicators focus on in public health science communication (videos)’	Marie Therese Shortt, Post doc
	‘Managers’ experiences from handling and adapting in response to the COVID-19 pandemic in homecare services’	Camilla Seljemo, PhD candidate
	‘Testing the influence of multiple factors on health video communication outcomes: a randomized controlled between-subjects design’	Daniel Adrian Lungu, Post doc
	‘Olfactory training for the recovery of smell after COVID-19 and its impact on quality of life’	Annelin Espetvedt, PhD candidate
14.00-14.15	‘Video - Consultation Self - Efficacy in Specialized Healthcare’	Joanna B Baluszek, PhD candidate
	‘Comprehending and acting on pandemic health risk information differently’	Siv Hilde Berg, Post doc
14.00-14.15	Keynote:
	‘Key gaps in safety and quality research: looking forward’
14.00-14.15	By Professor David Bates, Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health, Boston, USA
	David Westfall Bates Academic Profile Harvard T.H. Chan School of Public Health
14.15-14.35	Live: Q&A with David Bates

International Symposium for Early Career Research in Quality and Safety in Healthcare

Day 2: 24.11.2021

10.00-10.30	Keynote: ‘Guidance for involving patients and next of kin in healthcare’ By: Professor Jane O’Hara, Leeds Institute of Medical Education, University of Leeds Professor Jane O’Hara – Yorkshire Quality and Safety Research Group (yqsr.org)
10.30-11.30	Session 3: ‘Learning from success and adverse events’ and ‘Organizational and cultural factors’ followed by plenary discussion Chair: Lene Schibevaag Co-Chair: Heidi Dombestein
	Title:	Presenters:
	‘Learning from success - Developing a collaborative learning tool for resilient healthcare’	Cecilie Haraldseid-Driftland, Post doc
	‘Experience from simulation-based team training of non-technical skills and the significance in clinical practice’	Anne Strand Finstad, PhD candidate
	‘Meaning of coping strategies in patient’s self-management of inflammatory bowel disease (ibd)’	Adriana Rosenberg, Associate professor
	‘Learning to adapt- The role of individual and collective learning processes in prehospital critical care’	Cecilie Erga Myren, PhD candidate
	‘Patient experience, patient outcomes and organisational climate factors: A protocol for systematic review’	Seth Addo, PhD candidate
	‘The role of team and organizational factors for adaptive capacity in hospital teams’	Birte Fagerdal, PhD candidate
11.30-12.00	‘Exploring risk perception, sensemaking, leadership, and adaptive capacity in homecare services – a qualitative study’
	Lunch (Offline)

12.00-13.00	Session 4: ‘Patient and stakeholder involvement’ and ‘Governance and leadership’ followed by plenary discussion Chair: Heidi Dombestein Co-Chair: Lene Schibevaag
	Title:	Presenters:
	‘A co-produced model for investigation and learning from suicide cases in healthcare’	Elin Fröding, PhD candidate
	‘Stakeholder analysis: how to identify, categorize, and map stakeholders and stakeholder relationships in healthcare systems research’	Veslemøy Guise, Post doc
	‘Involvement of adolescents in mental health research’	Lou Krijger, Youth co- researcher and Petter Viksveen, Associate professor
	‘Publicly procured critical services – Contributions of relational governance to air ambulance service reliability’	Tone Slotsvik, PhD candidate
	‘Exploring leadership perspectives - the dual responsibility of HSE, and patient safety and quality of care’	Malin Rosell Magerøy, PhD candidate
	‘Stakeholder involvement in the investigation of serious adverse events in hospitals’	Inger Johanne Bergerød, Post doc
13.00-13.30	‘Using Work Domain Analysis to improve Emergency Department provision of safe, timely, high-quality care’
	Keynote: ‘How to navigate upwards and onwards in the academic climate’ By: Professor Siri Wiig, Center Director, SHARE – centre for resilience in healthcare, University of Stavanger SHARE – Centre for Resilience in Healthcare University of Stavanger (uis.no)	