

STATUTES FOR THE UNIVERSITY FUND'S PRESENTATION AND COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT AWARD

§1. Objective

The Presentation and Community Involvement Award was set up by University Fund for Rogaland AS (the University Fund). Its objective is to promote outstanding presentation and community involvement at the University of Stavanger (UiS).

§2. Nature of the award

The award shall encourage research presentation/communication, artistic presentation and community involvement. Research presentation/communication and artistic presentation mean all forms of presentation from the candidate's own field of study to the general public and/or external user groups. Community involvement also includes participation in social debate, cooperation with society and businesses and participation on boards and public councils/committees.

The award is an honorary award made to employees and students who in recent years, and in particular the calendar year to which the prize applies, have excelled in these areas. It can be awarded to an employee, a student or a group composed of such at the UiS.

The award consists of a diploma and a grant awarded by the University Fund.

§3. Nomination rights

Students, staff and organisational bodies at the UiS can nominate candidates for the award. Nominations of candidates for the award are made before 1 May during the year following the year to which the award applies.

Nominations shall be justified and documented in the form of:

- The candidate's presentation activities
- The candidate's community involvement
- The candidate's profile in public and among user groups

§4. Processing of nominations

Candidates are assessed by a jury consisting of the Rector (chairman of the jury), the Prorector for Innovation and Society, a representative from the University Fund, a representative from the media, a representative from the scientific employees and the Chairman of the Student Organisation. The jury's decision is final when selecting the award winner.

The Secretariat for the award is the Department of Communication and Public Affairs. The name of the award winner is not announced until the actual award ceremony.

§5. Award ceremony

The award is presented by a representative from the University Fund during the official semester opening at the UiS in August each year.

§6. Establishment of statutes

The Board of Directors of the University of Stavanger establishes the statutes which apply to the award. The Rector is authorised to make any necessary amendments to the statutes.
